

TOBACCO FACTORY THEATRES

We are offering an opportunity for young people aged 14 and over, especially those who wouldn't usually have access to the theatre, to come and see our new show, REVEALED, at Tobacco Factory Theatres 22 Sept – 08 October. There will also be an opportunity to engage in workshops & talks after the show if you wish.

We understand the pressures and restrictions on schools when organising trips, and to help reduce barriers to attendance, we are offering subsidised tickets and free tickets to those most in need, and can also provide assistance with transport costs in some cases. Please contact us via the email below if you would like to take advantage of this offer, and we can work out the specifics together.

'The world of REVEALED is one we know all too well: a family that has secrets, a family that has grudges but a family that has love even if they don't show it. This is a story of what happens when men and specifically black men hold all their vulnerability in the name of being a man.' Director, Jay Zorenti-Nakhid

Set against the backdrop of an uprising, following an incident involving a young man in police custody that stuns the nation, REVEALED is written by renowned actor and emerging playwright Daniel J Carver (Royal Shakespeare Company, Belgrade Theatre).

Through the prism of a powerful and poignant family drama REVEALED offers a rich opportunity for young people to empathise with and explore issues that are relevant to today and that could otherwise be challenging themes to engage with and talk about. It is therefore targeted at those young people who may have experienced these themes, or who would benefit from understanding more about them. This will sit well as an enrichment activity alongside PSHE / RSE programmes you may already have running, and of course, exposing young people to professional drama.

Please note the age restriction is 14+, the show contains strong language and may be triggering for some young people who have experienced homophobia or racism. If you would like to view the script before attending, please find it attached / please email and request a copy.

We are happy to accommodate small groups of students or whole year groups – please do get in touch if you have any questions.

Finally, we are hoping to increase our number of school partnerships, and hope this event may be a springboard to working with you in a meaningful and effective way to really enhance your students' learning and help them understand the artistic and career – related opportunities theatre has to offer. Please get in touch, even if you are unable to attend 'Revealed', to find out more and have a member of our team visit your school.

Call us on 0117 9020344 or email aillie@tobaccofactorytheatres.com to book your places for Revealed, to discuss funding opportunities, and to explore partnership working with us.

We can't wait to welcome you, and work with you.

Want to see the show?

Schools are welcome to attend a performance of REVEALED at any point during the run. We have two school focussed matinees which include a post-show Q&A with the cast / creative team held on:

Thursday 29 September 1pm

Thursday 06 October 1pm
